Local Drive for Jobs Will Start Tonight

Legion Sponsors Meeting This Evening at Community
Building

GROUPS TO CO-OPERATE

The National Employment Drive of the American Legion will get underway in Narberth tonight at a meeting called by the Harold D. Speakman Post.

Representatives of various organizations in the Community have been invited to attend, as well as all interested citizens. It will be held in the Legion Room of the Community Building at 8.15 P. M.

According to tentative plans, a survey of the Borough will be made to ascertain how much work is available. The Legion Room of the Community Building will be used as a headquarters and all men in search of work will be requested to register there.

The aim of the Legion Drive is to provide work, not money, and it is pointed out that new work, not just a change of workers, is the object sought.

Every effort will be made to fit the worker to the job. Through registration, the various kinds of help will be listed and can be keyed to the desires of individual home owner.

There will be no charge to those seeking work for the Legion's employment service, and it is thought a uniform rate of $.45 per hour will be set for the workers.

Organizations which are expected to be represented at the meeting tonight include the Woman's Community Club, the Mulieres, the Junior Community Club, the Churches, the Narberth Bridge Club and the Legion Auxiliary.

Frank A. Schrepfer, immediate past commander of the Post, will be in charge of the meeting.

Shull Shows Work of Local Painters

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Batchelor
and D. S. Leibgries Exhibit
Paintings

ALL THREE AMATEURS

The paintings of three Main Line residents are on display in the studio of the Shull Lumber Company, Bala-Cynwyd, during the early part of this month. The exhibit is another of a series being conducted by the company and consisting largely of the works of Main Line artists.

The paintings are those of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Batchelor, of Chestnut avenue, Narberth, and D. S. Leibgries, of Lodges Lane, Cynwyd.

"The current exhibition," said Alvin E. Shull, head of the company, this week, "is an inspiration to any business man or woman. All three of these artists have other interests, and have carried on their painting as a hobby. A visit to the display will show what the average business man or woman can accomplish with sketching as a hobby."

Both Mr. Batchelor and Mr. Leibgries are members of the Business Men's Sketch Club of Philadelphia. Mr. Batchelor is associated with a Philadelphia investment house and Mr. Leibgries is a successful chemist. Mrs. Batchelor became interested in the work at the time her husband joined the club. Both took up the hobby in middle life and have spent many days sketching in the country surrounding the Main Line. Mrs. Batchelor is a former president of the Woman's Community Club of Narberth, and was at one time a member of the School Board.

That the talent of the family is not restricted to painting is shown by the fact that a daughter, Miss Jean Batchelor, is a well-known poet.

Many of the exhibits in the series being shown by the Shull Company are the work of men and women carrying on art as a hobby. The Main Line Business Men's Sketch Club, sponsored by Mr. Shull and coached by William Tefft Schwarz, meets in a club room in the same building. A number of local business men have become interested in the club recently. It was founded in 1930.

Sub-Juniors Meet Monday

The Sub-Juniors of the Women's Community Club of Narberth will hold their regular meeting on Monday evening at 7.30 P. M. in the Girl Scout wing of the Community Building. Jack Foster, curator of the Philadelphia Zoological Gardens, will be the speaker. The hostesses will be Miss Evelyn Hansell and Miss Katherine Jane Miller.

Thinking it Over

LOUIS A. YOUNG
of 410 Grove Place, Narberth, who is considering requests of friends to run for the Republican nomination of State Assemblyman from the First Legislative district.

Lou Young May Run for State Assembly

Urged by Friends to Seek Republican Nomination in First District

HIS PLANS UNCERTAIN

Louis A. Young, of Narberth, who was a candidate last fall for County Commissioner, is being urged by his friends to seek the Republican nomination for Assemblyman from the first legislative district in the State Legislature.

Reached at his home, 410 Grove Place, this week, Mr. Young stated that he was undecided what his plans would be. The former Penn football coach said he would not be in a position to announce his plans definitely for some days to come.

In the Primary election last Fall, Mr. Young, running on the Boyd-Just ticket, pressed the organization candidates for County Commissioner closely, and piled up the heaviest vote of any member of his slate.

Mr. Young is contract manager for the Turner Construction Company, has lived in Montgomery County for over 10 years, is married and has five children.

Petitions for Fred C. Peters, of Ardmore, present Assemblyman from this district, have been circulated, indicating he will be a candidate at the Primaries, April 26th.

Boy Work Subject of Rotary Meeting

The importance of boy work in the program of activities of Rotary Clubs was emphasized Tuesday by Thomas F. Armstrong, of Philadelphia, speaking before the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth organization. Mr. Armstrong is chairman of the boy's work committee of the city club.

The speaker discussed at length the workings of the Students' Loan Fund, sponsored by the Philadelphia club. Organized with an original capital of $30,000, the fund has aided some 150 boys to complete their education. In every case the boys have arranged for repayment of the loans, and only three boys are delinquent at the present time.

Mr. Armstrong showed how the fund was applied, and gave many incidents to show the success of the plan. "The old civilizations passed away because of a loss of character," he said.

Gordon May Agree to Release Report

Will Have to Await His Own
Inventory on Merion
Title Assets

INJUNCTION STILL ON

A compromise agreement reached between the Main Line Depositors' Committee and Dr. William D. Gordon, State Secretary of Banking, may result in the release for publication of the complete depositors' committee report regarding the closed Merion Title & Trust Company.

Unless the injunction order invoked by Dr. Gordon is dissolved by the Montgomery County Court, this was predicted as the probable outcome of the case.

Such a ruling follows arguments on the injunction heard Tuesday afternoon in Norristown before Judges Harold G. Knight and George C. Corson. At that time the case was taken under advisement after arguments had been presented by Aaron S. Swartz, representing Dr. Gordon, and Walter R. Faries, representing the Main Line Depositors' Committee.

The temporary injunction, granted by Judge Knight February 17, restrained the depositors' committee from publishing information they had obtained after an investigation into the affairs of the Merion Title & Trust Company.

The compromise agreement was suggested by Judge Knight after Attorney Swartz had stated that Dr. Gordon had no objection to the publication of the depositors' committee report after the State Banking Department had filed inventory of the Merion Title & Trust Company. He stated that the department's inventory would be completed in about two weeks.

"Harmony has existed between the committee and Dr. Gordon up to this time," declared Judge Knight. "I see no reason why such a procedure would not be agreeable to both parties."

The continuance date for the temporary injunction expires today.

At the opening of argument both Judges, after conferring, said they agreed with the legal points presented by Mr. Faries that the section of banking law involved referred specifically to employees of the State Banking Department and not to members of depositors' committees.

The Court also indicated they placed considerable importance on the question as to whether the Main Line Depositors' Committee had promised Dr. Gordon that they wanted information for the sole purpose of rehabilitating the bank. Mr. Swartz argued that, as the committee had already announced the Merion Title could not be rehabilitated, they had deprived themselves of publishing the report by their own admission.

Mr. Faries pressed for raising points of law that the constitutional rights question of free speech was involved in the case.

Judge Knight commented: "Mr. Faries, aren't you waving the flag with that remark?"

"Yes, your Honor, but it is a good flag," replied Mr. Faries.

Mr. Swartz, in his arguments, said that Dr. Gordon could not be blamed for wanting to protect himself, as the law clearly stated that no information could be divulged regarding a closed bank except for the purpose of rehabilitation. He declared it was not a question of policy for the State Banking Department, because the department was interested primarily in protecting the depositors.

"We have no objection to publication of the report after our inventory has been filed," Mr. Swartz stated.

Slated as Assessor

JOSEPH P. WHITE
of 113 Essex avenue, Narberth, who has been recommended by the County Commissioners for appointment as Borough Assessor to succeed E. C. Griswold.

White Recommended for Boro Assessor

Treasurer to Succeed
Griswold

SAID TO BE TEMPORARY

Joseph P. White, of 113 Essex avenue, Narberth, has been recommended for the post of Real Estate Assessor for the Borough by the County Commissioners to the Board of Assessors at Norristown.

He will succeed Edward C. Griswold, former councilman, who was elected to the post two years ago to equalize assessments in Narberth.

Under new provisions in the State Law, local assessors are appointed by the County Boards of Assessors, which, in turn, are appointed by the County Commissioners.

A resident of the Borough for the past 15 years, Mr. White is noted as a sportsman, being game warden for this district, a hunter and dog fancier. The founder of White's Sweet Shop, on Haverford avenue, he also built other buildings and houses in Narberth, including the new Post Office in 1920.

He has been connected with theatrical concerns in Philadelphia and at present is treasurer of the Garrick Theatre.

The appointment of Mr. White as Assessor, which it is expected will be announced shortly, is a temporary one, it was stated at Norristown.

When work is accepted, each consignor will be given a number under which her work will be sold permanently.

Committee Requests Boro School Board to Send Eighth Grade Back to Lower Merion

Narberth Business Man
Sends Shoes to China

Footwear for Junior Folts, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Folts, was sent to Moukden, China, this week by John Drizin, Narberth shoe dealer. It was ordered in a letter just received, that was dated February 2. Interesting notes on the Chinese situation were given in her letter by Mrs. Folts, who left for the Orient last August, after purchasing several pairs of shoes for herself and Junior.

"China is war-ridden as usual," she wrote, "but we are very safe here in Moukden. All Chinese troops have vacated, so only Japanese troops are left, and they won't be fighting each other, so we really feel quite fortunate up here, instead of somewhere else. We hear they are having trouble in Shanghai now. Well, China is always full of trouble, so we don't give it a great deal of thought. Will Rogers and Floyd Gibbons were here and told us all the home news."

Mr. Folts is an official of the Standard Oil Company, with offices in Dairen. His son was born in China, but with his parents moved to Narberth, until last summer.

Mr. Drizin, in commenting on the letter, said that it was Edwards' elkskin moccasins that were ordered, and that Mrs. Folts wears Enna Jetticks. Another Narberth family, that has removed to Porto Rico, also purchased shoes from the borough dealer.

Recently Formed Group Studying Matter With Board's
Co-operation

MIGHT MEAN TAX RISE

A committee of citizens appeared before the Narberth School Board last Friday night, asking that the Board consider the feasibility of sending the Eighth Grade at the Narberth School back to Lower Merion Junior High.

The visit resulted from a meeting of residents the previous evening held in the Girl Scout Room, which was attended by approximately 150 people. The meeting, which was a good-natured affair, surprised those responsible for it by the interest manifested. It was the consensus of opinion at the meeting that the Eighth Grade pupils would have greater educational advantages at Lower Merion.

In replying to the committee's questions, members of the School Board pointed out that they were not in a position at the present time to decide on the matter of the Eighth Grade. Next year's policy will depend, it was stated, on the tax rate and budget, which will not be adopted until the April meeting. It was intimated that an increase in the tax rate would be necessary in order to send the Eighth Grade back to Lower Merion on account of the increased tuition costs.

The Board expressed an open mind on the subject and it was stated that the Finance Committee was working on the subject and that a statement of its findings would be issued at a later date.

The Citizens' Committee, appointed after last Thursday's meeting to consult with the School Board, consisted of the following: H. L. Woehling, chairman; Ralph L. Rankin, A. C. Miller, Louis A. Young, Thomas U. Schock, J. E. Shewell, Arthur W. Burns and A. E. Wohler.

This group is securing data and is expected to make recommendations at a meeting to be called in the near future. The committee has been promised hearty co-operation in its work by the School Board and all data and information will be at its disposal.

Following the alteration of the Narberth School Building last summer the Board decided to keep last year's Seventh grade at Narberth, making an Eighth grade this year, on account of the increasing tuition costs at Lower Merion. It was thought that the alterations to the building would provide ample space and considerable money was saved by the Board through this step.

Last Thursday evening, February 25, the Junior Community Club entertained the Sub-Junior members at an informal party, held in the Legion Room of the Community Building. About 35 girls were present, and a series of interesting games, beginning with a hilarious "balloon dance," were played with great enjoyment by hostesses and guests. Refreshments were served and prizes awarded to the most skillful in the total games scores.

This Thursday Miss Alberta Davis is holding a card party at her home for the benefit of the treasury, to be devoted to charities sponsored by the girls. A large attendance is expected, as several girls are bringing outside guests.

Next Thursday, March 10, will be a business meeting, and, in addition, there will be a speaker. This will be Professor Leslie R. Severinghaus, of Haverford School, whose presence was announced erroneously at an earlier date this year, but who will actually be the speaker on March 10. His subject, "Rural China, and the Chinese Language," is well chosen, in view of the present keen interest felt in China and her welfare, and the evening promises much. The meeting will be held, as usual, in the Scout wing of the Community building.

Narberth's Problem

For a great many years Narberth's steady growth in educational matters has been accompanied by public discussion of important steps. At one time it was the question of the location of the buildings; then the creation of a new structure for the primary grades; finally the plan of sending the high school students to Lower Merion.

Last Thursday night a meeting was held under the auspices of the education committee of the Women's Community Club, of which Mrs. Edwin C. Town is chairman. The most important part of the discussions dealt with the eighth grade. Those present felt that the students should be sent back to Lower Merion next year, if the School Board found it expedient.

Without going into the merits of this proposal, which will be given serious study by the committee during coming weeks, the fact is evident that all such discussions lead inevitably to the broader idea of a joint school district.

At the present time the ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades of the Narberth school are merged with the high school at Ardmore. Narberth pays a fixed rate of tuition for these students and has used the classrooms released in Narberth for the expanding school population in the lower grades without having to do any more building.

This year the eighth grade, formerly at Lower Merion, was moved back to the borough building. The change was made possible by alterations to the old high school building on Essex avenue. Parents of these pupils, according to the discussion Thursday night, prefer to have the eighth and ninth grade work co-ordinated under one roof.

If the Narberth School Board grants the request, it will undoubtedly be but an expedient. Constant shifting of grades back and forth is not a good plan, although the move this year was based on good economy. What is needed, and what has been advocated for many years by residents of both Narberth and the township, is a joint school district.

There are many handicaps to be overcome in putting such a plan in operation, but at first glance these problems are not insurmountable. Co-ordination of facilities and elimination of duplicate overhead might well permit of the creation of such a joint district without extra expense either to the borough or to the township. Such joint districts have been successfully created elsewhere.

The larger the district under one management, the greater the opportunity for extended and complete facilities. If the lower seven or eight grades in Narberth could be handled jointly, as are the upper grades today, it might well be of advantage to both the present districts.

Geographically the two districts are one. Political lines should mean nothing in education. The idea is well worthy of serious and exhaustive study.

Enlist the Home for Safety

The Federal, State and municipal governments may legislate for accident prevention; the police may seek unremittently to enforce it; schools may teach safety, and associations may advocate it. But really effective results can never be obtained until the American home is enlisted wholeheartedly in the cause.

The home is the keystone of the nation's safety arch. It is the first line of offense against an enemy which annually kills 100,000 persons, injuries 3,000,000 or more and produces an economic loss running into the millions.

"Nearly one-third of the 560,000 accident fatalities of the last decade actually happened in the homes," says Dr. Herbert J. Stack, safety supervisor of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters. "That in itself should awaken every household to the necessity of better housekeeping, better care of young children and better safeguards.

"There is an inescapable duty resting upon the heads of the nation's families. In the last analysis, they have the responsibility of teaching safety habits and attitudes to the children. What the child absorbs in the home colors its after-life, and if lessons there are lax, the child will be found deficient when it comes to safety problems of our modern civilization.

"Accidents are a serious menace to our national life and far-reaching in their effects. Surely something is wrong when in a single 10 years the lives of more than half a million persons, one-fifth of whom are children, can be snuffed out. As bad as wars are, if we add together all the deaths of American soldiers on the battlefields during the combats of the last 200 years of our history, the total will not be that of the loss through accidents during the period named."

Praises Play Reviewer

To the Editor of Our Town:

May I express, through your columns, my appreciation of the excellent criticism of the Dover Road as reported by "Out Front," in Our Town, last week?

The very fact that we have a critic of such marked ability in our audiences, will assure an improvement in our presentations in the future.

"Out Front," while acknowledging the outstanding characterizations, and lauding the choice of such a worthy vehicle, indicated with discerning accuracy, the weak points in the presentation, and with such a delicacy of touch, that he could not possibly offend. We must admit the fairness of his criticism.

It is the continuance of such intelligent criticism, that will aid the Narberth Players to become "a serious significant development in the community."

As a member of the coaching staff of the Players, I welcome "Out Front"—Don't let him desert us.

Sincerely yours,
KATHLEEN MCCONNELL.

Shreds & Patches

A Prediction

Bruce Rogers, of Washington, whose political prognostications have sometimes hit the mark in the past, is now predicting that the Hoover campaign for re-election this year will ignore personal criticism entirely, keep all domestic issues in the background and aggressively and continuously argue and warn against some unnamed menace from abroad. The slogans of the campaign will be, according to Rogers, "Stand By America" and the Lincolnian "Don't Swap Horses While Crossing the Stream." That prediction alarmed The Vagrant, who had been complacently thinking that a new President would certainly be inaugurated a year from now. Such strategy would be exceedingly shrewd and fearfully likely to win—and, of course, win or lose, would not get the country anywhere so far as enabling the national election to interpret the desires of the people on the vital domestic problems which are pressing for action. Beware of the political leader or party who talk about foreign menaces in a time of domestic collapse. Kings used to start foreign wars to divert the attention of their subjects from troubles at home.

A Great Disappointment

The Vagrant has in the past implied no great personal fondness for President Hoover and fears that as this campaign year progresses he may inadvertently reveal that point of view again. Therefore he is glad to have this opportunity to speak in the highest praise of the President's appointment of Judge Benjamin N. Cardozo, of New York, to the Supreme Court to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of the venerable and venerated Oliver Wendell Holmes. No President could have made a better appointment; no President could have been more responsive to the wishes of the liberal-minded minority. In the turmoil and the shouting of the campaign that is to come, this act shall be remembered in Hoover's favor, and if the Democrats nominate some standpatter, as is not at all unlikely, it can cause thousands of liberals to cast their votes for Hoover next November.

Four Men

There are, in a small community which The Vagrant frequently visits, four leading men of exceedingly diverse temperaments, backgrounds and viewpoints; yet The Vagrant, knowing them all, observes that each has a high regard for the others, although they could not be called friends. The link which connects them seems to be a mutual respect and admiration for an intelligent and sincere community interest which each one detects in the others. One is Irish and a Catholic and in all respects is true to the traditions which those words imply. Another is a Jew, a native of central Europe, orthodox in his religious beliefs, a keen merchant and also a meditative and philosophical man. The third is a Yankee, undiluted native son of native sons back to the time of the Pilgrims. He is equally true to his type, a free-thinking, serious-minded citizen who is more democratic in his beliefs and his theories than in his fellowships. And the fourth is a European-born Quaker, a vigorous exponent of freedom of speech, which personal right he practices on all times and occasions, no matter whose ox is gored. None of those men is particularly tolerant, but all of them are tolerant of each other. Each is frequently misunderstood by the people of the town, but they never misunderstand one another. All of which seems interesting and significant to The Vagrant, because it exposes some of the invisible ties by which any progressive community is bound together; because it reveals that dissimilarity of race and religion is not the barrier that is sometimes thought; because it is a little symptom that the American objective of a harmonious state of many races and religions and minds is still sound in theory and in progressive growth.

Futile Bravery

Some months ago a round-robin, or a petition of some sort, was signed by many clergymen in favor of peace. It may have contained some rather strong statements regarding the iniquity or war. The Vagrant does not recall those details. Soon after it was published, a spokesman for the military establishment replied and implied that all of the clergymen who had supported it were cowards. That is invariably an argument used by the military crowd in replying to pacifists. Is it fair or truthful? The Vagrant thinks not. Personal bravery has never been confined exclusively to the ranks of the professional military men; it is nothing that they put on with their uniforms; possibly the precepts of West Point and Annapolis may intensify it, but those schools cannot originate it. Yet the military crowd always imply that it is their sad fate to be under the constant obligation to fight and die for both the just and the unjust, for the brave and the cowardly. They do not perceive that the peace advocate does

M. G. M. Lion Makes Personal Appearance

LEO, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer trademark lion, who will perform at the Egyptian

Leo, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer trademark lion, will appear in person on the stage of the Egyptian Theatre in Bala-Cynwyd, 2 P. M., this Saturday. He will be put through many tricks by Captain Volney Phifer, his trainer, aided by little Miss Eloise Page. At the end of the performance he will be publicly fed his daily meal of 25 pounds of raw b. o. f. He also consumes two gallons of water four times a day.

Insured for a million dollars, the lion is the most valued beast in history. At 735 pounds, he is said to be the largest lion in existence, and measures ten feet from tip to tip. He is a black-maned Nubian lion, born in the African jungle 17 years ago. His "hotel" in Philadelphia is the Zoological Gardens, where he looms head and shoulders above other beasts in the lion and tiger house. Last December he aided a Philadelphia department store in a before-Christmas publicity stunt. Soon he will resume in Europe travels that in recent years have reached all states and most cities of the Union, in addition to Canada. He has met governors of all states, attended Lion Club meetings everywhere in this country and Canada, and assisted many trembling would-be club members at initiations, during which they were introduced to him. He dislikes most other animals, has a mighty roar, and is well guarded by a careful trainer.

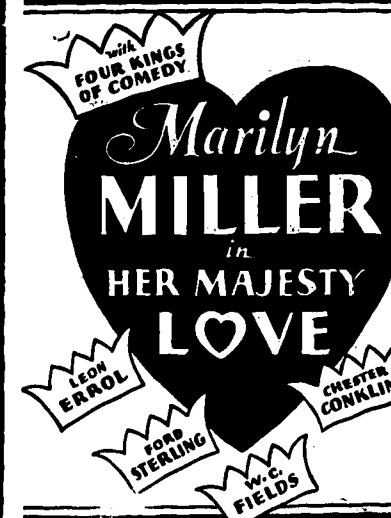

not ask nor want anyone to defend him and his goods by arms. He knows that it cannot be done, regardless of the admitted willingness of the professional soldier to do so. As war is now, it can't be done. The great losses by death and by destruction of property fall on the civilian population. Not all peace advocates are concerned with the moral aspects of war, nor do they question the bravery of the professional soldiers. It is the futility of the professional soldier, with all his equipment and all his bravery to accomplish what he intends, that is swelling the ranks of the pacifists.

We Sing an Old, Old Song

"One price and one price only"—this is an old song, but it is sometimes refreshing to hum over old familiar tunes—they are always new to somebody.

We can hardly believe that anybody who knows Strawbridge & Clothier well, is unfamiliar with this one-price policy, but with three new stores serving, to some extent, three new communities into which, doubtless, many strangers arrive each season, we'd like to hum once more that old refrain.

Honest Selling Prices Are Based on Fair Cost Prices

The Strawbridge & Clothier Stores have but one buying organization. This organization buys, not for Philadelphia, not for Suburban Stores, but for Strawbridge & Clothier. The price on the same merchandise at the same time is always the same in all of our stores.

New Rector Assumes Duties at St. Colman's

Rev. Eugene A. Kelly Succeeds the Late Father McGinley in Ardmore Parish

FROM SUMMIT HILL

The Rev. Eugene A. Kelly, who was appointed rector of St. Colman's Church, Ardmore, recently by Cardinal Dougherty, assumed his duties in the parish last week and took charge of the services last Sunday. He succeeds the late Rev. Daniel L. McGinley, who died on January 18.

Since 1923 Father Kelly has been rector of St. Joseph's Church, Summit Hill, Carbon County, Pennsylvania. He was born in Kellyville (now Lansdowne), was reared in St. Clement's parish, Phoenixville. Following his graduation from Roman Catholic High School he entered St. Charles' Seminary, Overbrook, and was ordained to the priesthood on May 27, 1911.

His first mission was at the Church of St. Francis de Sales, Lenni. In 1912 he was transferred to the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes, Overbrook, and two years later he was sent to the Church of St. Edward the Confessor, Philadelphia. In June, 1916, he became assistant rector of the Church of St. Charles Borromeo, South Philadelphia, where he served for more than seven years.

Then followed his pastorate at St. Joseph's Church, Summit Hill, from which he was summoned last week to St. Colman's. He was instrumental in the erection of the first parochial school in the Summit Hill parish, acquired a comfortable convent for the teaching sisters, and improved an old cemetery and obtained a new one.

Autocar Company Reports Ratio of 1931 Quick Assets

The Autocar Company, of Ardmore, for the year ended December 31, 1931, reports an operating loss of $612,228, after charging off $398,319 for depreciation and development expenses, attributable to reduced volume of sales. This compares with operating loss of $149,000 in 1930. Balance sheet at the close of the year showed quick assets to liabilities in the ratio of 5.34 to 1, as compared with 4.50 to 1 at the close of 1930. This stronger ratio is due in large measure to reduction in inventories, R. P. Page, Jr., president of the company, stated. At the annual stockholders' meeting, William H. Brearley, secretary of the company, was elected to the board of directors, succeeding J. B. Warren, resigned. Other directors were re-elected. At the organization meeting of the board following the stockholders' meeting officers were re-elected without change.

Guardians of the Night
A LAMP on the switch-board flashed—a call was in the making.
"I'm all alone and it's getting awfully hot!" a small frightened voice complained to the Night Operator when she plied in the cord.
Immediately she sensed trouble. "Don't you worry," she reassured the child. "Somebody's coming!" and quickly she connected another line to police headquarters.
Within a few minutes a police car was at the child's home. It was none too soon. A valve on the furnace had jammed, the rescuers discovered, and the boiler was perilously near exploding.
As an everyday convenience, the TELEPHONE is worth many times its low cost. In emergencies it is priceless.

Don't forget!

Next week the big Flower Show in Philadelphia!

And now, since the readjustment has started to adjust itself, we may bring back some real inspiration from the Flower Show and plan to make the spades fly, to plant those trees, shrubs and other plants that we want and to sow the seeds of a joyful garden for the coming season.

Speaking of changed times and a new order of things brings to mind the two classes who may try to hold back the wheels of progress that must go forward for the benefit of all of us. The first is the hoarder, who has money to spend, but will not spend it; the second is the workman, or the merchant, who is holding out for the prices of boom times; with conditions as they are, small jobs and small profits are the fundamentals of starting the ball a-rolling. There is money to be spent, and there is work to be done, if we will all do our bit and start to creep in order that we may gain strength to crawl to better times. Many plants are in nurseries, many gardeners are itching to get hold of a spade—and a few dollars—in order that they may spend it among their neighbors; and so it goes. The wheels must go round in order that we all survive. "Unloose the colt and set it free!"

For a flowering tree that is early, fragrant, the right color—light pink—grows to a good size—15 to 20 feet—bears fruit that will make good jelly and does well in sun as well as in partial shade, choose the wild sweet crab apple (malus coronaria). The Japanese beetle does not like the seed fruits such as apple, pear, quince and crab apple, but seems to prefer the stone fruits, like plum, cherry and peach. Why bring that up? The grubs are going to come up anyway, so why not help to starve them out.

For a spot of bright color in a shady place, use tuberous-rooted begonias. Now is the time to start them, either single or double, separate colors or mixed. If they are to be kept in pots, one in a 4-inch pot will do; if they are to be moved into the open ground the tubers may be started in flats or large shallow pots. The mixture may contain a little sand with considerable leaf soil, or humus, and some loam. Don't bury them too deeply; halfway down is about right; keep the pots moderately moist—below and in a rather shady place until they get going. Keep them indoors until the weather warms up, as they cannot stand frost. If the pots are dried off after flowering, the tubers may be saved until next year—like the gladiolus.

Annual gypsophila is awfully nice for vases of mixed flowers. It does not last long in flower, so that several sowings may be made to keep it coming. Handy to fill in around perennials, and then, again, sowing seeds helps to keep the weeds down.

Of course, we have planted, or ordered plants, of gypsophila Bristol Fairy.

Time to inspect lilacs, old climbing roses, shrub roses and euonymus for scale, as the first spraying is done before the plants leaf out. Also time to consider spraying oaks, ash, sycamores, tulip poplars and hawthorns for scale. But don't use oil spray on sugar maples or black walnuts—they don't like oil—use lime-sulphur, as is used on fruit trees.

If someone with a pair of pruning shears insists on hacking at poor, defenseless shrubs—see that they remove entire canes, right down to the ground; don't let them cut all of the flower buds off the ends of stems. Or, better still, look up the pruning shears until after the shrubs have flowered.

Villanova Gym Opens April 1
The formal dedication and opening exercises of Villanova College's new $350,000 gymnasium and field house have been set for the evening of April 1 at 8 o'clock. The celebration will take the form of a musical revue and interfraternity and interclub ball. Rev. Ruellan P. Fink, O.S.A., vice president of the college, announced.

Haverford Loses to Delaware
Haverford College basketball five lost to Delaware University, 36-19, last Friday night at Delaware. The Scarlet and Black team put up a plucky fight, but were outclassed.

Friends Finish Third
Friends Central, by defeating Haverford School, 24-19, last Friday afternoon, finished third in the Inter-academic Basketball League. Germantown Academy defeated Montgomery School, 29-13.

Temple Passers to Face Villanova Five in Wildcats New Gym This Saturday Night

Coach George Jacobs, of the Villanova College basketball team, has virtually decided on the opening line-up for this Saturday's game with Temple University at the Blue and White new gymnasium at Villanova.

Capt. Czesick, veteran of two years of varsity competition and fastest man of the club, will be at right forward. Assisting Czesick at the other forward assignment will be either Lynch or Hurley. Huck Finn, Coach Jacobs' sensational find, will be at the pivot assignment. Finn did not see action in the first Temple game, when the Cherry and White topped the Blue and White. Coach Jacobs believes that Finn will make a difference when the two clubs clash this Saturday night at Villanova.

Bill Tracey, veteran guard, is paired with the former Hazleton High flash, Metro Weston. The upstate high school lad has not been cutting the cords with as great regularity as when he played under Coach McGeehan at Hazleton, and so Coach Jacobs has placed him at guard with Tracey, where both men have been playing a fine defensive game for the Wildcats.

It was announced today that the new gymnasium would be in A No. 1 condition for the game this Saturday and work for the past two weeks has been carried on at a rapid pace in order to have the edifice completed for the Temple game Saturday night and the Bucknell game on Wednesday, the 10th. A victory over both these deadly rivals of the "Wildcat" will bring Coach Jacobs' percentage for the season to 500, besides affording Main Line supporters an opportunity of watching one of the most hotly contested games to be played in this section of the country.

L. M. High School Notes

By BILL MACAN

Plenty of news and activities on for this week. The first and foremost is the presentation of "Meet The Family," a comedy, by the Senior Class, this Friday and Saturday evenings. After several months of rehearsing, the casts, under the direction of Vincent V. Pearce, of the faculty, and Ann Adams, of the student body, will present the result of their labors at 8.15 P. M. each evening.

Befitting a High School of such size, there are two casts, one for each show. On Friday night the curtain will open on these plays: Bob King, a young husband, Conrad Wickham; Polly, his wife, Eleanor Jones; Inez Warren, who lives across the hall, Carolyn Goldsmith; Jennie Frye, Polly's mother, Elinor Schoff; Malcolm Frye, Polly's father, Harry Essley; Uncle Ben Pike, Polly's uncle, William Ferguson; Henry King, Bob's father, Fred Justin; Carrie King, Bob's brother, Eleanor DeVilbiss; Emmy, Bob's aunt, Arlene Dill; Ivory, the cook, Janet White; Officer Morrison, William Everhart.

And when Saturday's performance comes, the audience will gaze on: Bob King, Robert Braid; Polly, Alice Edwards; Inez Warren, Carolyn Goldsmith; Jennie Frye, Elinor Schoff; Malcolm Frye, Harry Essley; Uncle Ben Pike, William Ferguson; Henry King, Fred Justin; Carrie King, Eleanor DeVilbiss; Emmy, Arlene Dill; Ivory, Marguerite Lowe; Officer Morrison, William Everhart.

But the cast would not be able to present so fine a show if it were not for those "behind the scenes." The assistant directors are Ruth Kaplan, Anne Francis, and Irma Snyder. David Thomas is the stage manager. He is assisted by William Zillger, electrician, and a stage crew of Knowlton Laughhead, Sandy Thomas, Russell Wood, Bill Chambers and Ralph Talbot. The business staff is made up of Harold W. Helveston, faculty business manager; Ellis I. Curley, business manager; and Ruth Suplee, advertising manager. Tickets may be purchased at the door for the small sum of fifty cents.

Another big event is the coming Father and Son dinner, to be held in the school cafeteria next Tuesday night, March eighth. The program, sponsored by the Boys' Hi-Y, will open with an invocation by Reverend Poorman. The address of welcome will be given by Conrad Wickham, president of the Hi-Y and of the Senior Class, and the response for the fathers will be by Mr. C. A. Wickham. Other speakers will be Harvey Harman, Penn football coach; Rev. Keighton and Rev. Faye. Music will be furnished by the school Brass Quartet, consisting of Robert Hutchinson, Dick Wentz, Horace Speer and Chester Jones.

David Thomas, chairman of the banquet committee, will act as toastmaster. The other members of the committee are Howard Lodge, Bob Taylor, James Quinn and Tom Dunlap. It is hoped that all the fellows of the school and their dads will be present to enjoy such a program, and such a dinner.

Arrangements are rapidly approaching completion for the Senior trip to Washington in April. A committee of Howard Lodge, chairman; Bill Ferguson and Arlene Dill are taking care of these arrangements.

The students will be entertained this Friday, in assembly, by the Upper Darby Boys' Glee Club. A very interesting program has been arranged.

Recently, the students of first year typing were given a speed test by the Woodstock Typewriter Company. Pins were awarded to all those who typed more than twenty-five words a minute with five or less errors. Those who received the pins are, according to their speed, Marguerite Lowe, Mida Davis, Mary Speakman, Gladys Bess, William Davidson, Ida Mae Wood, Betty McGarvey, Lee Abbott, Irma Snyder, Major Hayden, Regina Karolzak, and Treva Smith.

Maroon Ends Season by Defeating Radnor

"Kid" Stanley and Roy Williams Chief Factors in Lower Merion Victory

CAME FROM BEHIND

Bill Anderson and his boys finished their 1932 basketball schedule with a great exhibition of the floor game in the junior high gymnasium Tuesday evening before a capacity crowd. Radnor High was the victim and an unwilling one, but the Maroon players were out for revenge, and after Roy Williams had rung up his sixth field goal for the night and his fourteenth point, the score read 30 to 25 for Lower Merion.

Again it was Stanley—"The Kid," as Bill Anderson affectionately calls him—who proved to be the spark that quenched the fire in an enemy charge. The Red jerseys from Wayne were leading, 18 to 12, with but one moment to go, in the first half, when the mite guard took the ball the full length of the floor on a fast dribble, reversed his field and shot a basket. He followed this up with the same thing in another moment, and this time made a quick pass to Sonny Grace, who closed the gap to two points just as the half-time whistle blew.

Coming from the dressing room to start the final chapter, the visitors' lead was quickly erased as Williams shot one of his impossible one-handed hooks from the corner.

The lead was increased from two to four points by the Maroon players before the third quarter was over, and as the final minutes faded away they maintained their margin to win a victory that was unexpected and, to some, remarkable.

Coach Prevost brought a seasoned team to Ardmore, one that had previously defeated the homelings in a hard-fought game at Wayne, 28 to 23. They handled the ball like veterans and, with Hen Soleliac and Slim Badger working nicely on the scoring end, had Lower Merion playing sensationally to come through on top.

Roy Williams, playing his last game as leader of the Maroon five, played exceptionally well. His 14 points helped him to maintain a 12-point average per game since his change to a forward post.

Haverford Trackmen Plan Busy Season

Six dual meets, four at home and two away, have been arranged for Haverford trackmen this spring. Last season the Scarlet and Black had only five scheduled contests. Only three changes were made in the previous schedule. William & Mary has been dropped, and Dickinson and St. Joseph's added.

Intercollegiate competition begins with the appearance of Lehigh on April 16 at Haverford. Last year the Brown and White eked out a win by five points. A week later Dickinson will compete on April 23 in another home match. The Carlisle team though not met last year is reputed to have a strong squad. On April 29 the Little Quakers journey to Baltimore in the first meet away from home. Last season they defeated Johns Hopkins rather easily. On Junior Day, May 6, the trackmen will meet Delaware. On May 10 there will be a meet with St. Joseph's, who have not appeared on the Haverford schedule since 1929. Swarthmore, climaxing many of Haverford's sport schedules, will be host to the Scarlet and Black's final meet May 21.

Haverford is also entered in the Middle Atlantic Class B events in the Penn Relays on April 30. The M. A. S. C. A. A. championships, held for the past four years at Haverford, will take place at Lafayette, May 13 and 14. The Little Quakers hope to better last year's standing of fifth in this meet.

Coach Haddleton recently stated that with consistent practice Foley will easily establish a new pole vault record at Haverford this spring.
